Founded in 2008 as part of a merger between Dewsbury College and Huddersfield Technical College, Kirklees College has become one of the biggest college's in the country, offering a wide range of courses and study options.

Kirklees College is also committed to serving the local communities and business throughout the Kirklees region, working with over 1000 employers around West Yorkshire.

The college is entrenched in the heart of West Yorkshire and boasts nine bespoke centres across the Kirklees region, from two main centres based in Dewsbury and Huddersfield, to specific learning centres in art, animal care, construction, engineering, media and performing arts as well as a brand new centre for process manufacturing.

2 column text white

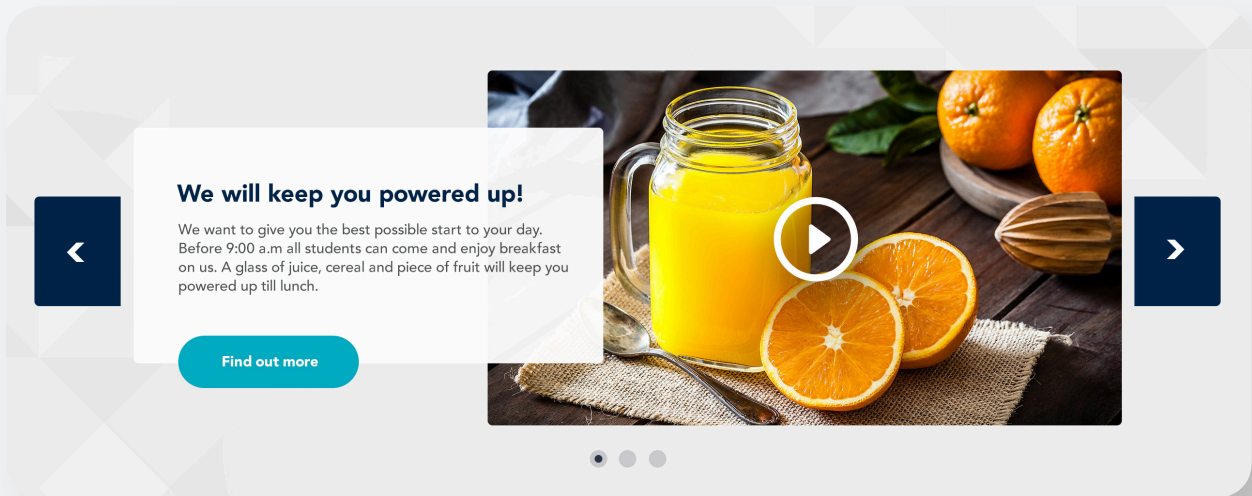

At Kirklees College we know that the dedication of all of our colleagues, is central to ensuring that our learners achieve their full potential. By facilitating a truly engaging work environment we aim to fulfil our mission of "Creating Opportunity, Changing Lives".

We want to attract and retain the very best talent – colleagues who will be committed to supporting our values of Inclusive, Nurturing, Supportive, Pride, Integrity, Respect and Excellence.

We provide a safe and healthy working environment in which we can all maximise our potential and add value. As a learning organisation we instil the principles of Continuous Professional Development and Continuous Improvement in all that we do. While employability for our learners is a key driver, we are also focusing on developing learners who can learn and thrive in a digital society and digital literacy for both our staff and students is key. Interested in oining Kirklees then find out more about the College.
